- b. Downloading a product from our website.

3. Personal information you provide about third parties

If you give us information about another person, you confirm that the other person has appointed you to act on their behalf and agreed that you:

- a. shall consent on their behalf to the processing of their personal data;
- b. shall receive any data protection notices on their behalf;
- c. shall consent on their behalf to the transfer of their personal data abroad

4. Cookies and similar technologies

A cookie is a small text file which is placed onto your computer or electronic device when you access our website. Similar technologies include web beacons, action tags, local shared objects ('flash cookies') and single-pixel gifs. Such technologies can be used to track users' actions and activities, and to store information about them. We use these cookies and/or similar technologies on this website.

For example, we may use cookies to monitor and/or collect the following information:

- a. How many times a user visits a particular page and the website
- b. Which pages a user visits
- c. All website traffic data
- d. Location data.

This information helps us to build a profile of our users. Some of this information may be aggregated or statistical, which means that we will not be able to identify you individually.

In addition, it should be noted that in some cases our cookies or similar technologies may be owned and controlled by third parties who will also collect personal information about you.

On the first occasion that you use our site we will ask whether you consent to our use of cookies. If you do not, cookies will not be used. Thereafter you can opt-out of using cookies at any time or you can set your browser not to accept cookies and the websites below tell you how to remove cookies from your browser. However, some of our website features may not function as a result.

For further information on our use of cookies, please see our Website cookie policy.

For further information on cookies generally visit www.aboutcookies.org or www.allaboutcookies.org

Section 4: Use of your information

1. We collect information about our users for the following purposes:

- a. Identify you and manage any of the accounts of purchases made with us
- b. Conduct research
- c. Process online orders
- d. Statistical analysis
- e. Behavioural analysis,
- f. Carry out customer profiling
- g. Analyse your purchasing preferences
- h. Email market to repeat customers and targeted leads.

2. Who your information may be shared with:

We may share your information with:

Law enforcement agencies in connection with any investigation to help prevent unlawful activity. We will not share your personal information with any other 3rd parties

Section 5: Marketing

1. We would like to send you information about products, services, offers, competitions and our business which may be of interest to you. Such information could be sent by post, email, telephone, text message or automated call.

We will ask whether you would like us to send you marketing messages on the first occasion that you provide any relevant contact information (i.e. on purchase, signing up to a newsletter, entering a competition etc). If you do opt in to receive such marketing from us, you can opt out at any time (see 'What rights do you have?' below for further information). If you have any queries about how to opt out, or if you are receiving messages you do not want you can contact us using the details provided below.

Section 6: What information we require and why.

1. The provision of the following information is required from you:

- a. Full name
- b. Address
- c. Contact number
- d. Email address.

2. This is to enable us to do the following:

- a. Collect relevant information for potential delivery processes.
- b. Collect email and contact number for receipt purposes and order confirmations. We may also require this information for you to provide review of our services.

We will inform you at the point of collecting information from you, whether you are required to provide the information to us.

3. Reasons we can collect and use your personal information

We rely on the following as the lawful basis on which we collect and use your personal information:

- a. Consent
- b. Contract
- c. Legal obligation
- d. Public task

4. How long your personal information will be kept

We will hold your personal information for the following periods:

- a. Name and address - 6 years to satisfy the UK tax Law. Under UK GDPR standards, we will hold your name and contact number securely for an unending period of time. This data will be removed from our system once the objective tasks have been completed.

Example - marketing emails about our new sales.

These periods are no longer than necessary in each case.

Section 7: Keeping your information secure

1. We have appropriate security measures in place to prevent personal information from being accidentally lost or used or accessed in an unauthorised way. We limit access to your personal information to those who have a genuine business need to know it. Those processing your information will do so only in an authorised manner and are subject to a duty of confidentiality.
2. We will also use technological and organisation measures to keep your information secure. These measures may include the following examples:

All data is stored on secure servers; payment details are encrypted using SSL.

3. We also have procedures in place to deal with any suspected data security breach. We will notify you and any applicable regulator of a suspected data security breach where we are legally required to do so.
4. Indeed, while we will use all reasonable efforts to secure your personal data, in using the site you acknowledge that the use of the internet is not entirely secure and for this reason we cannot guarantee the security or integrity of any personal data that are transferred from you or to you via the internet. If you have any particular concerns about your information, please contact us using the details below.

Section 8: Transfers of your information out of the EEA

1. We will not transfer your personal information outside of the EEA at any time.

Section 9: Children and the validity of consent

1. Where we obtain consent from any user, we will take reasonable steps to ascertain whether the user is over 13 years of age and whether the child is sufficiently informed to give valid consent. If the user is not, parental consent will be required to provide consent for the processing of any personal information.

Section 10: What rights do you have?

1. Under the General Data Protection Regulation, you have a number of important rights free of charge. In summary, those include rights to:
 - a. fair processing of information and transparency over how we use your use personal information
 - b. access to your personal information and to certain other supplementary information that this Privacy Notice is already designed to address
 - c. require us to correct any mistakes in your information which we hold
 - d. require the erasure of personal information concerning you in certain situations
 - e. receive the personal information concerning you which you have provided to us, in a structured, commonly used and machine-readable format and have the right to transmit those data to a third party in certain situations
 - f. object at any time to processing of personal information concerning you for direct marketing
 - g. object to decisions being taken by automated means which produce legal effects concerning you or similarly significantly affect you
 - h. object in certain other situations to our continued processing of your personal information
 - i. otherwise restrict our processing of your personal information in certain circumstances
 - j. claim compensation for damages caused by our breach of any data protection laws

For further information on each of those rights, including the circumstances in which they apply, see the Guidance from the UK Information Commissioner's Office (ICO) on individual's rights under the General Data Protection Regulations (<http://ico.org.uk/for-organisations/guide-to-the-general-data-protection-regulation-gdpr/individual-rights/>)

If you would like to exercise any of these rights, please:

- a. Email, call or write to us
- b. Let us have enough information to identify you
- c. Let us have proof of your identity (a copy of your driving license, passport or a recent credit card/utility bill)
- d. Let us know the information to which your request relates

From time to time we may also have other methods to unsubscribe (opt-out) from any direct marketing including for example, unsubscribe buttons or web links. If such are offered, please note that there may be some period after selecting to unsubscribe in which marketing may still be received while your request is being processed.

Section 11: How to complain

We hope that we can resolve any query or concern you raise about our use of your information.

The General Data Protection Regulation also gives you right to lodge a complaint with a supervisory authority, in particular in the European Union (or European Economic Area) state where you work, normally live or where any alleged infringement of data protection laws occurred. The supervisory authority in the UK is the Information Commissioner who may be contacted at <https://ico.org.uk/concerns/> or telephone: 0303 123 1113.

Section 12: Changes to the privacy policy

This privacy policy was published on 20/06/2020 and last updated on 20/06/2020.

We may change this privacy policy from time to time. You should check this policy occasionally to ensure you are aware of the most recent version that will apply each time you access this website. We will also attempt to notify users of any changes by:

By email if you have opted in to receive emails; By notice on the website footer and upon acceptance of this document when placing an order.
